Rush county people have had the opportunity of seeing Helen Keller,
the miracle woman of the age, hearing her talk and hearing her teacher, who labored with the blind, deaf and dumb girl for twenty-five years, explain how she accomplished seemingly insurmountable difficulties, because it was a labor of love and because of Helen Keller's undying determination.

In the presence of Helen Keller
the audience was inspired with awe.
A hush fell over the immense crowd
of people that filled every available space in the Coliseum when the blind girl walked on to the stage. Mrs.
John Macy, her teacher, preceded her in explaining how Helen Keller
had been taught.

Everyone waited expectantly for the first word that Helen Keller spoke. At first there was almost an uncanniness about the sound of her voice. It impressed one as a voice from beyond the grave. Her articulation was labored, but she strove
to make herself understood.

Before Helen appeared, her teacher warned the audience that her voice lacked resonance, but that she endeavored to make herself heard.
There was scarcely any inflection placed on her words, but it was undoubtedly kept in mind all the time that Helen Keller had never heard the sound of her voice or any spoken word since she was nineteen months old—and at that time, of course, she had not yet learned to speak well.

Though only some of the words
could be understood during her talk

HERBERT C. FLINT NAMED COUNCILMAN

Selected at Brief Session of Council
to Fill Vacancy Caused by O. C.
Brann's Removal From Ward.

ONLY ROUTINE DISPOSED OF

The city council met long enough
Tuesday evening to allow the claims and transact only the urgent business. On account of the chautauqua
the session was held at five o'clock.
Herbert C. Flint, bookkeeper at the Rush County National bank, was elected a member of the council
from the First ward to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Oliver C. Brann. Mr. Flint was the only candidate and his selection was unanimous.

The treasurer's report for the month of June was received and referred to the finance committee.

The contract for coal at the water and light plant was held up until a test of some Indiana coal can be made.

The council instructed Superintendent Mahan to re-wire the fire station and city building. This building was one of the first to be wired in the city and a dangerous condition is said to exist. In making the change the building will be placed on the day current instead of the alley current as at present.

LOSS OF LIFE DUE TO FLOOD IS HEAVY

Between Forty and Sixty Persons
Die in Erie Pa., and Railroads
Are Washed Out.

LOSS WILL REACH $3,000,000

(By United Press.)

Erie, Pa., August 4.—Twenty-one bodies had been received at one o'clock this afternoon from the tangled wreckage of the flood that swept through the streets of Erie
last evening.

Each hour of the day from one to three corpses have been uncovered
by the volunteer workers who are struggling in the midst of debris
lining the course of Mill creek through the center of the city. Two thousand men were employed this afternoon in clearing the mud which covered most of downtown Erie.

Live wires fallen in the downtown streets added to the horror. During the night the flood finally reached the power plant of the Edison company and from then on the city was in total darkness. The flood swept the gas mains out of several streets
and the town is without gas.

Coroner Hanley estimated today that between 40 and 60 persons lost their lives in the cloudburst here last night. The water is rising as high as the second story of the houses. All railroads entering the city were washed out and twenty-five Lake Shore trains were stalled.
Newspapers were set by hand. The loss will reach three million dollars.

The first fireman to lose his life in the rescue work in the flood early today was John Donovan, type-man, who went down in saving Fire Chief McMahon, when a house in which they were working collapsed. His body was recovered.

FOX CHASE WILL BE HELD

J. Q. Thomas Obtains Three For
Some Sport at Fair.

The fox chases scheduled for the fair this year will positively be pulled off as J. Q. Thomas, secretary of the fair, has secured three foxes.
The event was scheduled for last year but had to be called off because no foxes could be secured. The fair board has three foxes, having secured them near Laurel. The fox chase will be held on two afternoons probably on Tuesday and Friday. This is expected to prove a novel attraction for the fair here.

JOHN BELL WINS FREEDOM TODAY

Jury Finds "Hot Stuff" Not Guilty
of "Bootlegging" After Taking Three Ballots.

BOUGHT "BOOZE" FOR OTHERS

John (Hot Stuff Bell) was found not guilty of a charge of "bootlegging" Wednesday morning by a jury in police court. Three ballots were taken by the jury in freeing Bell and the jury was out about one-half hour. The first vote stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. The second showed eleven for acquittal and the last was unanimous.

Bell was arrested last Saturday night when the police found him in possession of a basket of "booze." Bell maintained that he went to Con-nersville and brought the whiskey here for several parties. This was brought out in the trial. The state did not have sufficient evidence to convict Bell and when he proved that the whiskey was for other people that had given him the money
here, the case fell flat. Bell was defended by Wallace Morgan and the state was represented by Prosecutor Stevens.

STORM SWEEPS ATLANTIC COAST

Loss of Life Will Total Upwards of Fifty and Property Loss Will be Several Millions.

SMALL VESSELS DAMAGED

(By United Press.)

New York, August 4.—With a death toll of upwards of fifty lives and a property loss reaching far into the millions, the Atlantic coast
and eastern points are slowly recovering this afternoon from one of the worst storms in years. Telephone and telegraph companies were attempting a restoration of normal
service and until it is fully restored
the true losses can not be ascertained.

The heaviest toll was taken at Erie, Pa. From Maine to Georgia
the elements raged along the coast
throughout the night until this morning, preying on small vessels. Several motor boats and launches were washed ashore and their occupants
have not been located.

Practically all New Jersey coast towns suffered. Numerous deaths directly attributed to the storm were recorded in greater New York.

SLAV LOSSES ARE HEAVY

Russians Valiantly Resist German
Advances at Warsaw.

Petrograd, August 4.—It was officially admitted here today that the Slav losses in the past forty-eight hours have been very heavy.

A brief official bulletin furnished
only meager information regarding the German assault from the north
but it was considered very encouraging.

It said, "We are valiantly resisting the enemy's attack on the Narew lines. The Russian losses are very heavy."

ANNIVERSARY OF WAR IS OBSERVED

Humility and Recognition of Weakness Replaces Blind Confidence
in England Since Year Ago.

DETERMINATION TO WIN SEEN

BY ED L. KEEN.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, August 4.—Humility and recognition of her weakness replaced the blind confidence and cocksureness of a year ago when Great Britain today in thousands of patriotic meetings throughout the empire, observed the first anniversary of the declaration of war with Germany.

The empire without reservation reaffirmed its determination to carry the war to the bitter end.

But everywhere there was a striking contrast between the spirit of the people of today and of one year ago. The feeling that Great Britain has made a serious error but with a bull dog determination would profit
by these mistakes predominated.

All business on the London stock exchange stopped at noon while the members sang the national air.

ORDINANCE WAS SIGNED BY MAYOR

It Became Unlawful Wednesday For Motorists to Operate Automobiles With Mufflers Open.

POLICE SEE FEW VIOLATIONS

Lawfully, the open muffler on the automobile is a thing of the past in Rushville. The ordinance prohibiting the use of the open cut-out or muffler was signed today by Mayor Bebout and the ordinance is now a law.

Automobile drivers, generally,
started obeying the law and the police found it necessary to call the attention of only a few drivers to the law. The police will be lieient for a few days only, and then the law will be rigidly enforced. The ordinance was passed two weeks ago
and following the publication as provided by law, was signed by Mayor Bebout and is in full force and effect. The law provides for a fine not to exceed $25.

TUESDAY BAD DAY FOR ELBERT JONES

Automobile Collides With Another
on Way to Chautauqua And Son is Injured at Playground

NEW MACHINE IS DAMAGED

Tuesday was Elbert Jones' unfortunate day. While on the way to the chautauqua in the afternoon his new automobile was in collision with another machine and was badly damaged and about six o'clock in the evening his son Floyd, age eleven years, was injured while playing on the chautauqua grounds.

Mr. Jones was driving toward Rushville when his machine hit one driven by John Heishaur, of Dunreith, who was on his way home
from a visit with his son, Cliff E.
Heishaur, living on the Power & Jay farm north of Rushville. The automobiles met at a turn in the road near Hal Green's farm. The corn was so high in the field at the turn that neither saw the other coming.
The front axle on Jones' machine,
which was the heavier, was badly bent and had to be put on wheels to be brought to a garage. The lighter machine escaped with a broken
fender and was able to proceed.
None of the occupants were hurt.

The Jones boy sustained a severe cut under the left eye when a swing
on the playgrounds hit him. He lost a large amount of blood but the injury was not considered serious.

THEORY ABOUT A NEW ACT EXPLODED

Indiana Industrial Board Says Compensation Act May be Rejected
After Being Accepted.

S. L. TRABUE GETS LETTER

New light was thrown on the Indiana workmen's compensation act
by a letter received Wednesday by Samuel L. Trabue from the Industrial Board of Indiana, which was created by the act. The letter explodes the theory that has been held her that it was necessary to file notice of intentions to reject the act
thirty days before the act took effect. The letter says that the law may be rejected after having once been accepted. It follows:

Your letter of July 31 received and contents noted. It is the opinion of the board that an employer
may reject the Compensation Act
after having accepted the act by giving thirty days notice in accordance with the provisions of the act.

FOOD VALUES ARE EXPLAINED

Dr. Carolyn Geisel Shows Worth of Different Chemicals Found in Ordinary Eatables.

SUNSHINE KILLS GERMS

Institute Lecturer Emphasises Value
of Light And Fresh Air—Some Old Theories Exploded

Dr. Carolyn Geisel gave her first domestic science lecture of the week
Wednesday morning at the Rush
County Teachers' Institute in connection with her health talks. The value of different chemicals found in food products was explained to the teachers. She explained that certain foods had an antiseptic value in killing germs and preventing disease.

A question box is being conducted at the institute and Dr. Geisel answers all questions. An interesting session is promised Thursday morning when she will discuss the school inspection problem. That the school room should have plenty of fresh air and lots of light is being drilled into the teachers by Dr.
Geisel. She told them this morning that they should refuse to teach in a room that was not well lighted.

Dr. Geisel declared that ten minutes of sunshine would kill all the tuberculosis germs that might get in a school room. Dirt, darkness and dampness are the breeding places of germs, according to Dr.
Geisel, and the children should not be permitted to go to school where these conditions exist. Basements for school rooms were especially criticized by her.

Continuing her lecture of Tuesday
in which she said iron was necessary for the white blood corpuscles, she said that these also required seventeen drams of potash to keep the white corpuscles active. Potash, she said, can be taken into the body through potatoes. This chemical is a bloody purifier.

Dr. Geisel said most people cook potatoes in the wrong way. To get the potash from the potatoes it should be cooked with the jacket on, according to Dr. Geisel, for in this way the potash is held in the potatoe.

The body, according to her, also needs body salts. The salts tend to strengthen the heart. She said the body should have 20 drams of salt or lime. Lime and salts are not in flesh and Dr. Geisel warned against eating too much meat. "In a pound of corn bread there is found twelve drams of lime. If you would raise a big, tall boy feed him corn bread,"
said Dr. Geisel.

Dr. Geisel said sodium was also necessary. This is found in apples, rice, cucumbers and many vege-

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective. Plenty of Rushville evidence of their worth. G. Priest, 223 West Third street, Rushville, says: "For several years I had kidney trouble, which came on by spells. The complaint started with a dull pain just over my kidneys, then I became weak and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a supply at Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever tried and in a short time, my kidneys were normal."

(Statement given June 13, 1907.) Over Five years later, Mr. Priest said: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills when in need of a kidney tonic and the results are always satisfactory." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Priest had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. (Advertisement.)

NOT LIKELY TO GIVE UP COUNTRY

Boers Plan to Hold Captured German Territory in Union of South Africa.

ENGLAND TO OFFER MORE AID Has Already Given Loan of Thirty-Five Millions Towards Campaign There.

BY ARTHUR E. MANN. (U. P. Staff Correspondent.) Washington, Aug. 4.—"The only conditions on which the Union of South Africa would be willing to relinquish the German South African territory recently captured, would be upon the payment of a large indemnity," said P. J. Von Schreuder, who has been sent to this country by the Boer government to study American agricultural methods. "I do not give this is my opinion," he said. "It seems to be the overwhelming sentiment both among Boer political leaders and the mass of the people. 'The Union of South Africa sacrificed a great deal in making this campaign against the Germans and they deserve a great deal of credit when you consider that they did not regard themselves as necessarily involved in the war and also because they received no help from England in way of men or ammunition. We did get a loan of $35,000,000 from England but without this it would have been impossible for us to make the campaign. In fact the loan was made, not so much at our request, but at the behest of the British government which wished us to drive the Germans out of South Africa. At that, the money was not a gift and will be repaid without a moment of hesitation unless the British government should voluntarily offer to cancel the loan."

"In consideration of these facts it can hardly be expected that the Union of South Africa would look with any degree of favor on the prospect of having to return to Germany her hard earned conquest unless there is given her in return enough money to make up for the economic loss."

"I have heard some talk that perhaps the British government might be willing to grant the Boers a larger measure of home rule if they gave up the conquered territory but that is impossible. We have as great a measure of home rule now as is possible if we are still to remain a colony of England. Any further concession on England's part and we would logically become a free and independent state."

"And that brings me to remark on the danger to England which would result in the event that she endeavored to force conditions upon the Union of South Africa at the conclusion of the war which we did not favor. During the recent rebellion led by Gen. De Wet there were many citizens, some of them a power in the state who, while not making part physically in the rebellion, were yet in sympathy with the movement and only refused actual physical aid because they did not think that was the time to endanger England's existence by adding to her already great troubles. But should England, at the conclusion of the war, act in a manner inconsistent with the spirit of independence and love of liberty of the Boers, she might bring about a rebellion which would assume serious proportions. "And it is quite likely that England, that is the British Isles, would not enjoy the formation of the Union of Africa as an independent state. Not because she has any bullying ambitions to possess the country but because she realizes how valuable we are in furnishing her with much needed supplies. We are now sending her vast quantities of grain, wool, hides, and with the acquisition of German South Africa we will be able to send her a great deal of beef. "As a British colony it is not probable that we would ever impose any tariffs on exports which would be unfavorable to the home country but were we independent and should such legislation at any time appear advantageous to us, there would be no reason why we should then hesitate to improve our economic resources in that way. Considering the Union of South Africa as a source of English supplies in time of war, our importance as a British colony will easily be seen. Were we independent and were England to go to war again, it might easily be possible that our supplies would be totally denied England."

WILL SERVE ABOUT THREE MILLION

Dixie Highway Will Cover Territory in Which at Least 75,000 Motorists Live, it is Estimated.

VALUE OF SPUR IS SEEN

In the territory which will be served by the Dixie Highway it is estimated that there are 750,000 automobiles. These cars will average four passengers to a car, making a total of 3,000,000 tourists. A conservative estimate places the percentage of owners of automobiles who are long distance tourists at 10 per cent, which places the number of tourists who may be attracted to traveling over the Dixie Highway at 300,000. These tourists spending on the average of $5 per person per day in ten days would spend $15,000,000.

Suppose that only one fifth of the number of tourists would pass over the connecting link between Cincinnati, Louisville and the Lincoln Highway at Goshen, Indiana, and that these people remain in Indiana two days—in other words 60,000 people would spend in Indiana in the two days they would be in this state $600,000. This amount roughly expresses the sum that would be left along the route of the Hoosier-Dixie Highway in one season.

But the amount that would be left by tourists is not the greatest item. A much greater item is the fact that those who live along the route will have the highway for their own services and the enhancement of values. Beyond this, too, lies the fact that the movement means a concerted effort in hard road construction by which those who pay the price will ultimately get the greatest amount of road for the least amount of money. This does not mean additional expense in road building but in fact means just reverse of expense, or in other words one dollar's worth of road for one dollar's worth of dollar. Roads are the highway of civilization. The uncivilized man does not build highways: he follows a trail. The better the roads as a rule, the higher the order of civilization. As the roads are so are the people. The Hoosier-Dixie Highway Association stands for better roads, hence a higher order of civilization.

SAYS ENGLAND IS BLUFFING

Representative of Cotton Exporters Believes Battleship Should be Sent With Vessels.

WOULD SETTLE DIFFICULTY Suggests Special Session of Congress in Case President Fails to Clear the Way.

By CHARLES P. STEWART. (U. P. Staff Correspondent.) Washington, August 4.—"Poppy-cot; a monumental bluff," was Marion Butler's summary today of the British answer to America's protest against interference with the latter's commerce on the high seas. Butler, big cotton grower, ex-United States senator and former president of the Farmers Union, probably represents the entire American cotton interests. "Unless President Wilson clears the way for our cotton to foreign markets, German ports included, the growers will see very soon that the way is cleared," said Butler. A similar belligerent attitude by packing the other exporting interests was indicated by messages the cotton representatives received from them today. "What the president ought to do is to send a battleship along with every cotton ship or every ship carrying food and clothing of any kind, as an international policeman to protect our rights," said Butler. "The ships would get to port, depend on it. "Another thing he could and should do if England maintains her belligerent attitude is to call congress in extra session and declare an embargo on all exports." "England would get off her perch in 24 hours. It is our right under international law to ship cotton direct to German points."

MILLER FINED ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Pleaded Guilty Following Fight in Which he Struck Frank Pitsford—Woman Involved.

STAGED IN GRAND HOTEL

Clen Miller pleaded guilty to the charge of assault and battery this afternoon on Frank Pitsford, and was fined one dollar and costs by Mayor Bebout. The fight occurred this morning in the pool room of the Grand hotel. Pitsford is alleged to have been hit with a pool ball by Miller. For a time Pitsford was held in jail as a witness as he did not want to prosecute Miller.

The details of the fight were not learned by the police and exactly what happened is not known. As far as can be learned at least one woman is involved and the affair had its start last night at the home of P. A. Miller, in East Third street. Clen Miller, a son of P. A. Miller, is said to have gone there and ordered one of the women, taken there against either of the Millers wishes, to leave the city and then this morning came across Pitsford in the Grand hotel. He is said to have hit Pitsford twice with pool balls.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION

Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. RESCH, 1900 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, it is not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars or any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. TREATMENT DID NOT SUIT LAUDER

Famous Scotch Comedian in Letter to London Paper Criticizes.

British Officials

SAYS HE WAS HORRIFIED

(By United Press.)

London, July 22: (By Mail)—Harry Lauder's Scotch is up.

In a burning letter to a London newspaper following a reported incident wherein sixty wounded Scotch Highlanders were taken out of their cots on a trans-Channel ship to make room for as many wounded Germans, the famous Scotch comedian today eliminated all comedy.

The letter reads:

"I am horrified to read of the occasion on which British soldiers, enroute from Havre to Southampton, the majority of them Blackwatch, 42nd Highlanders and Gordons, were taken out of their cots to make room for Germans. Through being removed it was stated that one of the British soldiers subsequently died and that the Germans were supplied with fresh eggs and bread while our British wounded soldiers only had biscuits.

"If this be true, who is to blame? And what is the punishment for such neglectful conduct? I am expressing the feelings of a great number of Scotchmen in writing this. We are at war, and when a case of this kind crops up much damage may be the result. Scotland demands the fullest investigation at once. To be treated as our soldiers have been is more than Scotchmen can tolerate. The enemy are giving no quarter. Why our brave lads should meet such neglect after fighting and bleeding is more than I can comprehend."

PAPER AND MERCHANTS MIX

Object to Advertising And Boycott Has Been Started

(By United Press.)

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 4.—The pocket is being treated to a neat little fight between an Evansville paper and the merchants of the city—that is the merchants on main street.

According to the Evansville Press the merchants sought to dictate what advertising it should print and what it should not print, objecting especially to an ad referring to coupons. The Press stood out for independence and the organized merchants, it asserts, have withdrawn their ads. This is an instance of an attempt to control the newspaper through the advertising columns, asserts the Press.

Amusements

The Princess will show the fifth installment of "The Goddess" for the first picture tonight. Earl Williams and Anita Stewart are featured as usual and this one is said to be especially fine. The other is a two part Vitagraph comedy entitled "Jane Was Worth It." Edith Story and Hughie Mack are featured. Tomorrow night the two reel Charles Chaplin feature "Work" will be shown.

The Gem will show a Charles Chaplin Comedy entitled "Film Johnnie" for first picture tonight. It is said to be one of Chaplin's greatest successes. The other picture is a Nestor comedy "When Cupid Crossed the Bay." Jack Dillon, Billie Rhodes and Neal Burns are featured. Tomorrow night Mary Fuller will be shown in "The Witch of Salem Town."

MIKE KELLY DISAPPEARS

Brother Pays His Debts at New-Castle and Ships Horses Here.

Newcastle, Ind., August 4.—Mike Kelly, a race horse owner, who disappeared from the Henry county fair ground three weeks ago Tuesday, and who left the city owing several people, wrote his brother, John Kelly, a Rushville grocer, telling him to come here, sell his horses and pay his debts. Kelly, according to those who knew him, was not a drinking man, but got discouraged over the showing made by his horses. His brother has just finished paying his bills which amounted to about $100 and has shipped the horses to Rushville.

COCAINE TRUST SAID TO EXIST

Arrest of Druggist May be Final Link in Gang That Has Been Violating Federal Law

INFORMATION BY A GIRL

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, August 4.—Whether Indianapolis like most of the larger cities of the country has a "cocaine trust" was a question which was to receive some light today when Loezo B. King, a South Illinois street druggist, was brought up in police court on a charge of selling cocaine contrary to the new federal law. King is the sixth person to be arrested in the investigation of the local narcotic situation—all on the complaint of one girl.

Bert Reeder, a liveryman known as "Cocaine Bill" on the West Side, and three of his aids were sent to the state penal farm for 180 days by Judge Deery of police court several days ago. It is charged that King was associated with Reeder in the sale of "dope."

King was arrested on information supplied by a girl who told the police she had been buying cocaine of King for more than two years. She said that a secret agreement existed between the "dope" fiend and the druggist. At King's store she said that cocaine was known as "two in one" and the purchaser would hold up two fingers and call for three of "two in one," meaning that they wanted $3 worth of cocaine.

SANITY HEARING

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 4.—The Cass county circuit court had the task today of deciding whether William Moore, an inmate in the Northern Hospital for the Insane whose home is in Elkhart, is really insane or is, as he asserts, being kept in the hospital because his wife wants him there. Moore says that he is not insane and he is attempting to gain his freedom.

HAS TRAFFIC

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 4.—This city has now about as many attractions now for the auto and motorcycle speeder as its Polish namesake has at present for a German ehlan. The city council has employed a traffic cop of the latest model with motorcycle accompaniment to run down all speeders who will not stop at his command.

Lights That Never Fades

Every residence in this town should be lighted by electricity, and every business house, work shop and professional office should be similarly equipped.

And we go a little further.

Wires should be strung out to every farm house, and barn, and granary, and other out-houses carrying the light that never fades.

The day of the tallow candle has passed, and the lantern and the coal oil lamp should soon be on their way.

Electricity today is no more expensive than the lamp or the candle
while its effectiveness is increased a thousand fold.

The way of the modern world is lighted with electric rays, and the community that refuses to become modernized soon slumbers in the cobwebs of oblivion. Let's light up and stay lit.

The grasshopper plague has made its appearance in Central America,
reports Special Agent Harris, now
in San Jose, Costa Rica. The grasshoppers appear to be working south.
Those appearing in Guatemala are from the State of Chiapas, Mexico,
and now that they are in Costa Rica
it means an invasion of Panama also. As this is the beginning of the rainy season, and the tender young corn is just getting a start, and as the voracious grasshoppers prefer corn to anything else, it looks as if the United States would be called on to assist Central Americans with shipments of food for perhaps another crop year. This may have a tendency to offset the evil effects of large importations to this country of corn from Argentina, which now finds an easy market in the United States on account of the fact that the Democratic tariff law put corn on the free list, though retaining a duty on rice, a southern product.

Wilson's Democratic Attorney General has taken pains to certify to the Supreme Court his opinion of Wilson's Democratic Congress. And it is no flattering opinion, either. In its brief appealing the so-called
"five per cent case" the Department of Justice tells how this legislation was passed. "The congressional purpose of favoring American bottoms," says the Administration, in this brief "is obstructed by treaty provisions to the contrary, and Congress was fully advised of the purport and existence of these treaties." In other words, Congress, though fully warned, went ahead in the spirit of dogged pertinacity which characterizes Democratic legislation generally. This opinion of Democratic capacity to legislate is one which is widely entertained; but we never expected to see a Democratic Attorney General attesting it in an important legal proceeding.

When Mr. Bryan left the State Department he took with him the desk which he and many of his predecessors had used. It will make a valuable edition to the collection of souvenirs which he has accumulated since 1896 and which connect his thoughts with the political disasters of his career. He wanted this desk because upon it he signed the numerous so-called "peace treaties" with which he stalked the Noble prize.
Even more interesting, in near future
which he drafted the single-term
plank of the Baltimore platform.

Popular imagination has been caught by the idea of John Wanamaker that it would be a fine thing
to raise $100,000,000 and buy back Belgium from its conquerors. But a hard headed statistician punctures
the idea by pointing out that the sum named would cover the war cost for only ten days—and the war is now
a year old.

If you see a hat in the street,

kick it again. Then you will know that the kicker hurts himself most of all.

Whenever you meet a fellow with a bright smile and a cheery "How d'u do," you will know that he is a home town booster and a good example for you to follow.

Don't do too much kicking about
all of this war news in the daily press. We are experiencing a welcome respite from politics.

No, Secretary Daniels has not

People's Column

Rush County Gravel.

Some time ago there appeared in your valuable paper an article headed Fine Gravel used in concrete work, which had been shipped here from Greenville, Ohio. No doubt the gravel was good but did you ever stop to consider the high grade of
of our own good Rush county gravel? Every day there is gravel being used in Rushville that did not have to be shipped in but was hauled in wagons from the different pits around Rushville. If that Rush county gravel was good enough to be used for concrete in the finest buildings in Rushville why wasn't it good enough for concrete for a brick street.

The men who are responsible for shipped gravel ought to have a little pride in a Rush county product instead of sending our money away
for foreign products why not leave it here at home? Our own gravel is already mixed and in nearly all cases the mixture is just what it ought to be. The writer of this article is willing to put his gravel against any shipped in stuff in any kind of a test and will demonstrate that Rush county gravel has no superiors and few equals.

HOOSIER HISTORY

TRAVEL OVER NATIONAL ROAD.

"From six to twelve independent stage lines ran on this road, and a score of companies were in the transportation business. The schedule of the stage was thirty hours from Washington to Wheeling, 45 to Columbus, sixty hours to Indianapolis and seventy five hours to Vandalia. Only thoroughbred Virginia horses were used on the best lines,
and the sound of the bugle was as certain an indication of the time of day as the passing of passenger trains on the railroads at the present time. The coachman was a man of consequence along the route almost an idol of the boys. To see him dash up to a post, throw the lines to the stable boys, tell the latest news from the East while teams were changing, then break away at a fifteen mile clip, was enough to attract all the youngsters for a mile or two. The driver usually courted this admiration and never missed a chance to take a boy on the seat with him—a favor the boy paid
for with apples and cider, and remembered with pride during the rest of his life. A guild of wagoners soon grew up in the freight business.
These men were well known from Baltimore to Columbus and thoroughly reliable—"Long's Essay in

FIGHTING FOR EXISTENCE

Says Germany Proposes Peace by

Being Dominant Power of World—no Boasting Now

BY THE EARL OF SHELBORNE,
K. G., G. C. M. G., P. C., ETC.

President of the Board of Agriculture in the New British Coalition Ministry; First Lord of the Admiralty (1900—5); Governor of the party.

(Written especially for the U. P.)

We hate war and did not enter upon this war light heartedly. We knew that Germany and Austria possessed an immense military power accumulated through years of preparation and that the war had been forced on Europe at a moment deliberately chosen by the Central Powers as that most favorable to themselves. We knew that the war must be a terrible one and a long one. But the path of duty seemed quite plain to us. We perceived that the German Government had dishonored the faith of Germany and attack the country it had promised to defend in pursuance of a deliberate policy, which, if successful, involved
the ruin alike of Belgium and of France and of the British Empire.

The German Government proposes to itself to establish peace in the world by the dominant power of Germany. The German army and navy is to act as the world's police and to enforce on other nations a rule of conduct prescribed for them by the German Government. Any nation, great or small, which stands in the way of the success of this policy is to be ground into the dust.

We are fighting, therefore, not only for our existence as a great power but also for our national ideals, since this conception of world policy is incompatible with our idea of the liberty of nations or of individual men. It involves moreover, as we have seen repeatedly in the last twelve months, the action of Germany as a non-moral State,

Two Good Things to Remember

You will only find what you left behind,
If you want to live in the kind of a town,
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start for a long, long hike.
You will only find what you left behind,
For there is nothing that's really new.
It's a knock at yourself to knock your town,
It isn't the town, it's you.

SPEEDWAY WILL NOT BE CHANGED

Indianapolis Race Course Will Remain The Same Next Year Despite Those Other Places

ELEMENT OF RISK REMAINS

Organized Racing to be Tried—Fight Promised Between New York And Chicago

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Aug. 4.—The Indianapolis Speedway will not be revamped because of the new possibilities of speed discovered in the Chicago Speedway. The Sheephead Bay course at New York may even shatter all Chicago records, but the Indianapolis Speedway will hold its next Decoration Day race on a course practically unaltered.

All speculation on this matter was finally set at rest today by Carl G. Fisher president of the local Speedway and pioneer of the auto racing game.

The mother course will continue to present the human element in automobile racing. This course, with its low turns requiring extreme skill to bring successful speed, will stand out in contrast against the comparatively safe bowl courses, where extreme speed is maintained with mechanical precision. Men like Ralph De Palma, whose masterful driving brought his Mercedes across in the recent sensational race, are known to prefer courses where the skill of the driver is the determining factor. They are known to feel that if the bowl courses drive out courses such as the one here, the remarkable drivers will disappear.

As one driver expressed it today, auto racing is in one way similar to golf. If the low score is the only thing to be desired, golfers would flock to the easy courses that are now shunned, he said. The human element and the element of risk so apparent in any 500-mile race here, are all that save auto racing from the humdrum.

Auto racing is about to be organized. Following in the path of organized baseball, leaders in the motor racing world have banded together under the laws of Indiana into the Speedway Association of America with seven Speedway courses in the league. The courses are: the Indianapolis course, Sheephead Bay, Chicago, Minneapolis, Sioux City, Tacoma and Omaha. These "big league" cities promise to systematize the game and plan their events so as to prevent conflict of dates. They will also boost the game by advertising it properly. They have planned to send a shrewd agent to Europe to interest drivers and makers who have not yet sensed America. In other words, co-operation is expected to provide the lubricant to place auto racing on a smooth and permanent basis.

But with organization, conflict is already seen by a few of the interested, especially in Chicago. New York is expected to object to another race at Chicago on Oct. 9. Chicago expects Sheephead Bay to lower records and wants another shot at them. In case New York objects and wins in its protest to the A. A. A. contest board, it is hinted Chicago may break away and cast its lot with the Western Automobile Association.

tables. Dr. Geisel urged the teachers to teach the children to eat fruit. "The juice from pineapples is one of the best anti-septics known to the medical profession for diphtheria," said Dr. Geisel. "Encourage the children to eat fruit. The juice contains many properties that kill the germs."

Dr. Geisel urged the teachers to use every precaution to keep contagious diseases out of the school rooms. She told a story of finding a child suffering from measles in a school room. The teacher, she said, did not know the child had the disease and as a result out of sixty-six children in the room fourteen died and eight were maimed for life. Dr. Geisel pointed out that measles is a germ disease and the old idea of parents thinking that their children just had to have the measles has long since been exploded. "The new idea is," said Dr. Geisel, "not to let them have the disease."

The parents were urged to co-operate with the teachers in keeping contagion out of the school rooms. The teachers were told that along with helping the children keep their teeth clean they should be taught to keep their finger nails clean. "The idea that the nails are poisonous," said Dr. Geisel, "is false. The nails are as pure as any part of the body but it is the dirt that accumulates under the nails that is injurious. This dirt carries germs and the disease is transmitted to the mouth and the body through the nails carrying the dirt."

Dr. Ellis spoke on "The Use of English." He urged that the teachers use more literature in the schools. The sessions of the institute are attracting more attention and Wednesday morning the largest crowd of the week was in attendance. Many people go that are not teachers just for a chance to hear the two speakers.

DANCING MASTERS IN CONVENTION

Annual Meeting of National Association Get Under Way at Oakland, Cal.

WANT TEACHERS PROTECTED

(By United Press.)

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 4.—Two hundred dancing masters from different parts of the United States are here to attend the annual convention of the National Dancing Masters' Association which is being held here beginning today and lasting until Aug. 14, under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

One meeting during the convention will be devoted to the discussion of means to obtain legislation for the protection of qualified dancing teachers. Z. I. Hinman of San Francisco, president of the association, declares that the public should be safe guarded against ignorant and immoral dancing teachers and such care can only be taken through legislation. It is urged that dancing masters be licensed.

RUSSIAN YIELD LOWER THAN U.S.

Number of Sugar Beets Per Acre in This Country Slightly Better Than That Country

WIDE RANGE IS NOTICED

Improper Thinning Said to be One Cause by Department of Agriculture—More Care Urged

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 4.—With the exception of Russia, the yields of sugar beets per acre in the United States is lower than in any other beet producing country. The average in America is 10.17 tons, and in Germany, 14.84. The cost of labor in this country and other factors of a similar nature unquestionably account for some of this difference but on the other hand, it is no uncommon thing to find the widest range in the yield of crops grown under conditions that appear to be almost identical. One farmer, for example, may take 20 tons of beets per acre to the factory, while his neighbor can only haul 7 or 8.

A recent investigation by the United States Department of Agriculture resulted in the conclusion that the differences were frequently due to unsuspected deficiencies in the stand. It was found that without counting them it was impossible to estimate without any degree of accuracy the number of plants per acre and that in consequence, this number was frequently much smaller than the farmer had believed or intended. The loss may occur before thinning, during the process of thinning and blocking, and during cultivation. For loss in the germination stand the causes may be found in poor preparation of the seed, imperfect operation of seed drills, late frosts, damping off, or such pests as cutworms or wire worms.

Improper thinning is, however, the greatest single source of loss. In this country the work is usually done without efficient supervision and there is no incentive to the laborers to be careful and accurate. The usual result is that the space left between the plants is greater than the farmer intended it to be. After the plants attain a moderate growth this fact is not perceptible to the ordinary observer. It is revealed, however, in a yield which is on the average 25 per cent less than it would have been had the thinning been properly done. A somewhat smaller loss frequently occurs a little later when some plants are destroyed by carelessness in the use of the cultivator.

Greatest Fleet Ever Assembled For Purpose of Attack Has Not Dented Dardanelles.

TURKISH PEOPLE UNITED

(By United Press.)

Constantinople, July 26 (Delayed) The greatest fleet ever assembled for the purpose of attack has scarcely scratched the defenses of the Dardanelles. The possibility that the Strait will be forced by the Anglo-French warships and land forces is too remote for consideration and back of this feeling of confidence of superiority of Turkish arms is developing a new spirit of national unity that is regenerating the Turkish empire.

Briefly put, these were the statements made to me today by Field Marshal Von Der Goltz of the German army, who, as military instructor of the Turkish army for years preceding the Balkan wars, won for himself the title "Father of the Modern Turkish army."

HELEN KELLER AWE INSPIRING

and though it was next to impossible to those who had never heard Helen Keller before to get the sense of her thought because of the inability to understand so many words, her appearance demonstrated the wonderful achievement of a dominant will power and a brilliant mind.

The first sounds she made were deep and guttural. Gradually her voice became more pliant and she spoke with more ease. The words "darkness," "love," "justice," "stars," and some of the conjunctions and pronouns were easily distinguishable. It was as if some mystic oracle spoke. That a person who lost the power of speech and in addition does not have any conception what the count of the spoken word is like should be able to talk almost surpassed human comprehension, and that one fact alone made the appearance of Helen Keller the most marvelous person ever seen—perhaps that ever will be seen or heard—at the Rush county chautauqua.

More wonderful even—if that be possible—than her set talk, was the rapidity and ease with which Mrs. Macy transmitted questions asked in the audience to Helen Keller. The blind girl placed the thumb of her left hand on Mrs. Macy's larynx, the index finger on her lips and the middle finger on her nose. Mrs. Macy then repeated the question asked in an ordinary tone of voice and without exception Helen Keller answered immediately, being able to understand by the movement of the lips.

One of the things that appealed to many as being almost supernatural was the way Helen Keller repeated the word intuitive, which was used in a question put to her, three times before she seemed to grasp just what was meant. She did not hear how she pronounced the word intuitive, yet she repeated it three times, just as one who hears their own words well and does not feel that a certain word has been pronounced correctly.

The way Helen Keller's face beamed with intelligence when she grasped the meaning of a question and the eagerness with which she answered revealed only in small measure the almost superhuman effort that she has made to overcome her misfortune. The most pleasant thing about her appearance was the delight and joy one felt at watching her marvelously expressive features work and seeing her countenance suddenly reveal what were her innermost thoughts.

She was asked if she felt the presence of the audience and she replied without hesitation that she did, and in the same instant moved her hands across in front of her to show that she knew many people were around her from the vibrations in the air. Many wondered if she felt the applause as she left the stage because she bowed repeatedly with each outburst.

The question was put: "Was your knowledge of the Supreme Being intuitive or did someone impart it to you?" She answered that it was partly intuitive and partly imparted. She said she had always felt that there was a God but that she had forgotten His name.

A questioner asked her what her favorite passage of scripture was. She replied with more eagerness that she displayed at any other question that it was the Twenty-third Psalm. Mrs. Macy then asked her to repeat the Psalm and she did.

The climax of the wonderful performance came when she repeated the Psalm. The ardor, impetuosity, fervency and even passion of her whole being was most expressively transmitted to many who watched her by her very manner, even though she could not impart her feelings by her spoken words. The very topmost point of human pathos was reached when her body bent forward in all the fervor of her strong personality, she spoke the words of the Psalm: "My cup runneth over."

Many read the lesson from those words. If a girl in her condition could repeat with such apparent delight and express so much satisfaction with her plight by those words, what has the ordinary individual to complain about? was the moral that many persons drew.

Mrs. Macy told how she went to Helen Keller as a teacher when Helen was a few months past six years. An illness, the nature of which is unknown, left the girl blind, deaf and dumb at nineteen months. The day Mrs. Macy arrived, she said, Helen had felt the air of expectancy. She rushed toward Mrs. Macy when her future teacher stepped over the threshold.

Mrs. Macy described how Helen made her mother know Mrs. Macy had a trunk and how she rummaged through the trunk, found a hat and by womanly instinct tried it on. Helen knew what shakes of the head meant before Mrs. Macy began her task by placing her hand on the head to see which way it went. She pointed to her mouth when hungry. Her mind was constantly at work those days, but none ever knew what was in it in those days, Mrs. Macy said.

Mrs. Macy said Helen found a doll in her trunk and appropriated it immediately. The doll was sent to her by her only deaf, dumb and blind girl who had been taught up to that time. Mrs. Macy said she had her first battle with Helen when she took the doll from her to get her to spell the word. The first word she spelled on her hands was cake and later learned to spell doll although that always aroused her anger.

"I used precisely the same material as you use to teach your children," said Mrs. Macy. "The baby hears words hundreds of times before he knows the objects. The baby learns by the association of objects with words. It was the same with Helen."

Mrs. Macy said Helen learned eighteen nouns and five verbs in the first twenty-five days. She described an important incident of the first month. Helen had always confused mug and milk. One day Mrs. Macy took her to the well, placed a mug in her hand and began to pump water into the mug. On the other hand she spelled water. Then Helen understood and she got the distinction between the water and the mug. Mrs. Macy said the first look of intelligence then came into her face. She learned thirty new words that day and for the first time learned that everything had a name, Mrs. Macy said.

"From that moment," continued the teacher, "she was transformed from a little animal to an intelligent child. It was not long until she was using English type. She played games and played with dolls and it was amusing to see her imitation of her mother's use of a baby sister."

Mrs. Macy said "Think" was the first word she learned requiring a mental operation. She and her teacher lived outdoors at her beautiful home in sunny Alabama and she learned from living things.

"It is true I am her teacher," said Mrs. Macy, "but I must admit that she has outstripped me in many things. She knows more Latin and Greek and she thinks she knows more economics and Socialism."

Mrs. Macy described her constant desire while still very young to learn to talk and how she was taken to Boston where both she and her teacher were taught the beauty of articulation. The teacher told how she won her degree at college under great obstacles and how she kept in touch with the affairs of the country through her large library and many magazines.

+++++ Chautauqua Notes +++++

Tuesday placed the Rush county chautauqua in the forefront of Indiana chautauquas. Helen Keller is an attraction that no other Indiana chautauqua had enjoyed up to this time. Miss Keller appeared at Winona Wednesday afternoon.

Never before in the history of the Rush county chautauqua did a crowd begin gathering so early as the one Tuesday evening. Some persons never left their seats after the afternoon program. Others barely took time to eat their suppers on the ground. Before six o'clock every available seat was taken in the front center section. The choice seats were all gone by six-thirty and at seven o'clock it was impossible to find a seat for anyone. Hundreds of extra chairs were placed in every inch and corner that could be located and still people jammed into the isles about the doors so thick that one person could scarcely move without disturbing the whole crowd.

The Royal Welsh Male Singers pleased the crowds immensely Tuesday. Their melodious voices blended to make a king of music that has never been heard here. Their time was cut short Tuesday night, and since the Coliseum was crowded to capacity at five minutes before seven o'clock, they readily consented to begin then and the crowd got an hour and fifteen minutes of music.

Lovers of fine music are looking forward with considerable anticipation to the coming of the Grace Hall-Riheldaffer company Thursday and Friday. This organization consists of piano, soprano and violin soloists that are unexcelled. They will give preludes both days and a full concert Thursday evening.

The paid admissions at the chautauqua Tuesday amounted to more than six hundred dollars. This is believed to be the biggest crowd the chautauqua ever enjoyed. When it is considered that there are over twelve hundred season tickets out this year, it will be readily seen that there were more than twenty-five hundred and possibly three thousand persons on the grounds Tuesday night.

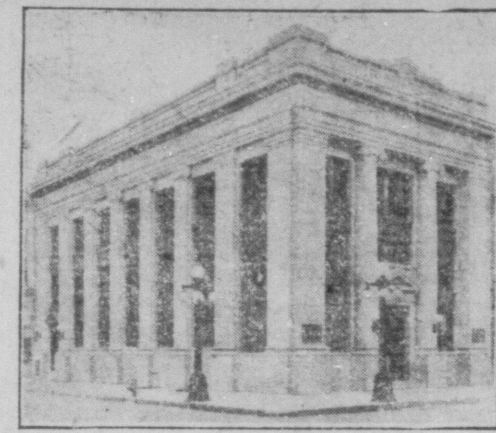

It is said that those who stay away from the chautauqua tonight will miss a treat in the person of Dr. Gabriel Maguire. He is not only a traveler and explorer of renown, but he is a wit who can put most anything in a humorous light by the telling of it.

Risca Williams told the story of the sinking of the Lusitania at the chautauqua Tuesday afternoon. It was a most graphic description to which the audience gave rapt attention. The manager told in an interview in the Daily Republican Tuesday evening how four members of the choir who were saved on a raft carrying forty persons sang "Abide With Me" towards evening when hope of rescue was given up. When Mr. Williams reached that point Tuesday afternoon, the singers took up the refrain and sang it. Many a person in the audience felt a thrill due to the realism which that added to the story.

One man Wednesday said that he made out one phase which Helen Keller used in her talk. It was that "happiness is born with the soul." Her theme was "Happiness" and she was the best exponent of that, without telling what happiness is.

The Welsh singers went from here to Noblesville Wednesday. They will appear at the Greensburg and Greenfield chautauquas before leaving Indiana.

The Hruby Bohemian orchestra, which was here the first two days, is meeting with as much popularity at Columbus, where the organization closes a two days' engagement Wednesday evening.

Rush county people have had the opportunity of seeing Helen Keller, the miracle woman of the age, hearing her talk and hearing her teacher, who labored with the blind, deaf and dumb girl for twenty-five years, explain how she accomplished seemingly insurmountable difficulties, because it was a labor of love and because of Helen Keller's undying determination.

In the presence of Helen Keller the audience was inspired with awe. A hush fell over the immense crowd of people that filled every available space in the Coliseum when the blind girl walked on to the stage. Mrs. John Macy, her teacher, preceded her in explaining how Helen Keller had been taught.

Everyone waited expectantly for the first word that Helen Keller spoke. At first there was almost an uneasiness about the sound of her voice. It impressed one as a voice from beyond the grave. Her articulation was labored, but she strove to make herself understood.

Before Helen appeared, her teacher warned the audience that her voice lacked resonance, but that she endeavored to make herself heard. There was scarcely any inflection placed on her words, but it was undoubtedly kept in mind all the time that Helen Keller had never heard the sound of her voice or any spoken word since she was nineteen months old—and at that time, of course, she had not yet learned to speak well.

Though only some of the words could be understood during her talk

FULL CONCERT

Thursday Evening, August 5

Rush County Chautauqua

HERBERT C. FLINT NAMED COUNCILMAN

Selected at Brief Session of Council
to Fill Vacancy Caused by O. C.
Brann's Removal From Ward.

ONLY ROUTINE DISPOSED OF

The city council met long enough Tuesday evening to allow the claims and transact only the urgent business. On account of the chautauqua the session was held at five o'clock.

Herbert C. Flint, bookkeeper at the Rush County National bank, was elected a member of the council from the First ward to fill the vacancy caused by the removal of Oliver C. Brann. Mr. Flint was the only candidate and his selection was unanimous.

The treasurer's report for the month of June was received and referred to the finance committee.

The contract for coal at the water and light plant was held up until a test of some Indiana coal can be made.

The council instructed Superintendent Mahan to re-wire the fire station and city building. This building was one of the first to be wired in the city and a dangerous condition is said to exist. In making the change the building will be placed on the day current instead of the alley current as at present.

LOSS OF LIFE DUE TO FLOOD IS HEAVY

Between Forty and Sixty Persons
Die in Erie Pa., and Railroads
Are Washed Out.

LOSS WILL REACH $3,000,000

(By United Press.)

Erie, Pa., August 4.—Twenty-one bodies had been received at one o'clock this afternoon from the tangled wreckage of the flood that swept through the streets of Erie last evening.

Each hour of the day from one to three corpses have been uncovered by the volunteer workers who are struggling in the midst of debris lining the course of Mill creek through the center of the city. Two thousand men were employed this afternoon in clearing the mud which covered most of downtown Erie.

Live wires fallen in the downtown streets added to the horror. During the night the flood finally reached the power plant of the Edison company and from then on the city was in total darkness. The flood swept the gas mains out of several streets and the town is without gas.

Coroner Hanley estimated today that between 40 and 60 persons lost their lives in the cloudburst here last night. The water is rising as high as the second story of the houses. All railroads entering the city were washed out and twenty-five Lake Shore trains were stalled. Newspapers were set by hand. The loss will reach three million dollars.

The first fireman to lose his life in the rescue work in the flood early today was John Donovan, fireman, who went down in saving Fire Chief McMahon, when a house in which they were working collapsed. His body was recovered.

EVACUATION ANNOUNCED

(By United Press.)

Berlin, August 4.—The Russian legation at The Hague has announced the evacuation of Warsaw according to dispatches received here today.

FOX CHASE WILL BE HELD

J. Q. Thomas Obtains Three For
Some Sport at Fair.

The fox chases scheduled for the fair this year will positively be pulled off as J. Q. Thomas, secretary of the fair, has secured three foxes. The event was scheduled for last year but had to be called off because no foxes could be secured. The fair board has three foxes, having secured them near Laurel. The fox chase will be held on two afternoons probably on Tuesday and Friday. This is expected to prove a novel attraction for the fair here.

JOHN BELL WINS FREEDOM TODAY

Jury Finds "Hot Stuff" Not Guilty
of "Bootlegging" After Taking
Three Ballots.

BOUGHT "BOOZE" FOR OTHERS

John (Hot Stuff) Bell was found not guilty of a charge of "bootlegging" Wednesday morning by a jury in police court. Three ballots were taken by the jury in freeing Bell and the jury was out about one-half hour. The first vote stood eight for acquittal and four for conviction. The second showed eleven for acquittal and the last was unanimous.

Bell was arrested last Saturday night when the police found him in possession of a basket of "booze." Bell maintained that he went to Connersville and brought the whiskey here for several parties. This was brought out in the trial. The state did not have sufficient evidence to convict Bell and when he proved that the whiskey was for other people that had given him the money here, the case fell flat. Bell was defended by Wallace Morgan and the state was represented by Prosecutor Stevens.

STORM SWEEPS ATLANTIC COAST

Loss of Life Will Total Upwards of Fifty and Property Loss Will
be Several Millions.

SMALL VESSELS DAMAGED

(By United Press.)

New York, August 4.—With a death toll of upwards of fifty lives and a property loss reaching far into the millions, the Atlantic coast and eastern points are slowly recovering this afternoon from one of the worst storms in years. Telephone and telegraph companies were attempting a restoration of normal service and until it is fully restored the true losses can not be ascertained.

The heaviest toll was taken at Erie, Pa. From Maine to Georgia the elements raged along the coast throughout the night until this morning, preying on small vessels. Several motor boats and launches were washed ashore and their occupants have not been located.

Practically all New Jersey coast towns suffered. Numerous deaths directly attributed to the storm were recorded in greater New York.

SLAV LOSSES ARE HEAVY

Russians Valiantly Resist German
Advances at Warsaw.

Petrograd, August 4.—It was officially admitted here today that the Slav losses in the past forty-eight hours have been very heavy.

A brief official bulletin furnished only meager information regarding the German assault from the north but it was considered very encouraging.

It said, "We are valiantly resisting the enemy's attack on the Narw lines. The Russian losses are very heavy."

ANNIVERSARY OF WAR IS OBSERVED

Humility and Recognition of Weak-
ness Replaces Blind Confidence
in England Since Year Ago.

DETERMINATION TO WIN SEEN

BY ED L. KEEN.

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, August 4.—Humility and recognition of her weakness replaced the blind confidence and cocksureness of a year ago when Great Britain today in thousands of patriotic meetings throughout the empire, observed the first anniversary of the declaration of war with Germany.

The empire without reservation reaffirmed its determination to carry the war to the bitter end.

But everywhere there was a striking contrast between the spirit of the people of today and of one year ago. The feeling that Great Britain has made a serious error but with a bulldog determination would profit by these mistakes predominated.

All business on the London stock exchange stopped at noon while the members sang the national air.

ORDINANCE WAS SIGNED BY MAYOR

It Became Unlawful Wednesday For Motorists to Operate Auto-
biles With Mufflers Open.

POLICE SEE FEW VIOLATIONS

Lawfully, the open muffler on the automobile is a thing of the past in Rushville. The ordinance prohibiting the use of the open cut-out or muffler was signed today by Mayor Bebout and the ordinance is now a law.

Automobile drivers, generally, started obeying the law and the police found it necessary to call the attention of only a few drivers to the law. The police will be lenient for a few days only, and then the law will be rigidly enforced. The ordinance was passed two weeks ago and following the publication as provided by law, was signed by Mayor Bebout and is in full force and effect. The law provides for a fine not to exceed $25.

TUESDAY BAD DAY FOR ELBERT JONES

Automobile Collides With Another
on Way to Chautauqua And Son is Injured at Playground

NEW MACHINE IS DAMAGED

Tuesday was Elbert Jones' unfortunate day. While on the way to the chautauqua in the afternoon his new automobile was in collision with another machine and was badly damaged and about six o'clock in the evening his son Floyd, age eleven years, was injured while playing on the chautauqua grounds.

Mr. Jones was driving toward Rushville when his machine hit one driven by John Heishaur, of Dunreith, who was on his way home from a visit with his son, Cliff E. Heishaur, living on the Power & Jay farm north of Rushville. The automobiles met at a turn in the road near Hal Green's farm. The corn was so high in the field at the turn that neither saw the other coming. The front axle on Jones' machine, which was the heavier, was badly bent and had to be put on wheels to be brought to a garage. The lighter machine escaped with a broken fender and was able to proceed. None of the occupants were hurt.

The Jones boy sustained a severe cut under the left eye when a swing on the playgrounds hit him. He lost a large amount of blood but the injury was not considered serious.

THEORY ABOUT A NEW ACT EXPLODED

Indiana Industrial Board Says Compensation Act May be Rejected
After Being Accepted.

S. L. TRABUE GETS LETTER

New light was thrown on the Indiana workmen's compensation act by a letter received Wednesday by Samuel L. Trabue from the Industrial Board of Indiana, which was created by the act. The letter explodes the theory that has been held her that it was necessary to file notice of intentions to reject the act thirty days before the act took effect. The letter says that the law may be rejected after having once been accepted. It follows:

Your letter of July 31, received and contents noted. It is the opinion of the board that an employer may reject the Compensation Act after having accepted the act by giving thirty days notice in accordance with the provisions of the act. The Industrial Board of Indiana, HOWE S. LANDS, Sec.

FOOD VALUES ARE EXPLAINED

Dr. Carolyn Geisel Shows Worth of Different Chemicals Found in Ordinary Eatables.

SUNSHINE KILLS GERMS

Institute Lecturer Emphasises Value
of Light And Fresh Air—Some
Old Theories Exploded

Dr. Carolyn Geisel gave her first domestic science lecture of the week Wednesday morning at the Rush County Teachers' Institute in connection with her health talks. The value of different chemicals found in food products was explained to the teachers. She explained that certain foods had an antiseptic value in killing germs and preventing disease.

A question box is being conducted at the institute and Dr. Geisel answers all questions. An interesting session is promised Thursday morning when she will discuss the school inspection problem. That the school room should have plenty of fresh air and lots of light is being drilled into the teachers by Dr. Geisel. She told them this morning that they should refuse to teach in a room that was not well lighted.

Dr. Geisel declared that ten minutes of sunshine would kill all the tuberculosis germs that might get in a school room. Dirt, darkness and dampness are the breeding places of germs, according to Dr. Geisel, and the children should not be permitted to go to school where these conditions exist. Basements for school rooms were especially criticized by her.

Continuing her lecture of Tuesday in which she said iron was necessary for the white blood corpuscles, she said that these also required seventeen drams of potash to keep the white corpuscles active. Potash, she said, can be taken into the body through potatoes. This chemical is a bloody purifier.

Dr. Geisel said most people cook potatoes in the wrong way. To get the potash from the potatoes it should be cooked with the jacket on, according to Dr. Geisel, for in this way the potash is held in the potatoes.

The body, according to her, also needs body salts. The salts tend to strengthen the heart. She said the body should have 20 drams of salt or lime. Lime and salts are not in flesh and Dr. Geisel warned against eating too much meat. "In a pound of corn bread there is found twelve drams of lime. If you would raise a big, tall boy feed him corn bread," said Dr. Geisel.

Dr. Geisel said sodium was also necessary. This is found in apples, rice, cucumbers and many vegetables.

A Two Name Note

Banks regard the "two name note" as an excellent form of security.

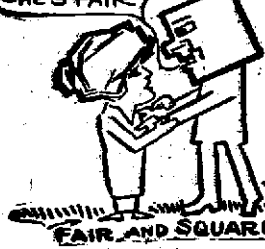

In much the same way a standard trade-marked product sold through a reputable dealer offers this same form of security to the purchaser.

Two names are behind it. The dealer is always ready to make good and the manufacturer is equally anxious to support his good name.

Look over this newspaper for the names of standard articles and the dealers who sell them.

Do the right thing at the right time.
Act quickly in time of danger.
In time of kidney danger Doan's Kidney Pills are most effective.
Plenty of Rushville evidence of their worth.
G. Priest, 223 West Third street, Rushville, says: "For several years I had kidney trouble, which came on by spells. The complaint started with a dull pain just over my kidneys, then I became weak and dizzy. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally brought to my attention and were so highly recommended that I got a supply at Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store. They proved to be the best kidney medicine I had ever tried and in a short time, my kidneys were normal."
(Statement given June 13, 1907.)
Over Five years later, Mr. Priest said: "I still use Doan's Kidney Pills when in need of a kidney tonic and the results are always satisfactory."

NOT LIKELY TO GIVE UP COUNTRY
Boers Plan to Hold Captured German Territory in Union of South Africa.
ENGLAND TO OFFER MORE AID
Has Already Given Loan of Thirty-Five Millions Towards Campaign There.
BY ARTHUR E. MANN.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, Aug. 4.—"The only conditions on which the Union of South Africa would be willing to relinquish the German South African territory recently captured, would be upon the payment of a large indemnity," said P. J. Von Schreuder, who has been sent to this country by the Boer government to study American agricultural methods. "I do not give this is my opinion," he said. "It seems to be the overwhelming sentiment both among Boer political leaders and the mass of the people. 'The Union of South Africa sacrificed a great deal in making this campaign against the Germans and they deserve a great deal of credit when you consider that they did not regard themselves as necessarily involved in the war and also because they received no help from England in way of men or ammunition. We did get a loan of $35,000,000 from England but without this it would have been impossible for us to make the campaign. In fact the loan was made, not so much at our request, but at the behest of the British government which wished us to drive the Germans out of South Africa. At that, the money was not a gift and will be repaid without a moment of hesitation unless the British government should voluntarily offer to cancel the loan.'"
"In consideration of these facts it can hardly be expected that the Union of South Africa would look with any degree of favor on the prospect of having to return to Germany her hard earned conquest unless there is given her in return enough money to make up for the economic loss."
"I have heard some talk that perhaps the British government might be willing to grant the Boers a larger measure of home rule if they gave up the conquered territory but that is impossible. We have as great a measure of home rule now as is possible if we are still to remain a colony of England. Any further concession on England's part and we would logically become a free and independent state."
"And that brings me to remark on the danger to England which would result in the event that she endeavored to force conditions upon the Union of South Africa at the conclusion of the war which we did not favor. During the recent rebellion led by Gen. De Wet there were many citizens, some of them a power in the state who, while not making part physically in the rebellion, were yet in sympathy with the movement and only refused actual physical aid because they did not think that was the time to endanger England's existence by adding to her already great troubles. But should England, at the conclusion of the war, act in a manner inconsistent with the spirit of independence and love of liberty of the Boers, she might bring about rebellion which would assume serious proportions."

And it is quite likely that England, that is the British Isles, would not enjoy the Union of the Union of Africa as an independent state. Not because she has any bullying ambitions to possess the country but because she realizes how valuable we are in furnishing her with much needed supplies. We are now sending her vast quantities of grain, wool, hides, and with the acquisition of German South Africa we will be able to send her a great deal of beef."
"As a British colony it is not probable that we would ever impose any tariffs on exports which would be unfavorable to the home country but were we independent and should such legislation at any time appear advantageous to us, there would be no reason why we should then hesitate to improve our economic resources in that way. Considering the Union of South Africa as a source of English supplies in time of war, our importance as a British colony will easily be seen. Were we independent and were England to go to war again, it might easily be possible that our supplies would be totally denied England."

WILL SERVE ABOUT THREE MILLION
Dixie Highway Will Cover Territory in Which at Least 75,000 Motorists Live, it is Estimated.
VALUE OF SPUR IS SEEN
In the territory which will be served by the Dixie Highway it is estimated that there are 750,000 automobiles. These cars will average four passengers to a car, making a total of 3,000,000 tourists. A conservative estimate places the percentage of owners of automobiles who are long distance tourists at 10 per cent, which places the number of tourists who may be attracted to traveling over the Dixie Highway at 300,000. These tourists spending on the average of $5 per person per day in ten days would spend $15,000,000.
Suppose that only one fifth of the number of tourists would pass over the connecting link between Cincinnati, Louisville and the Lincoln Highway at Goshen, Indiana, and that these people remain in Indiana two days—in other words 60,000 people would spend in Indiana in the two days they would be in this state $600,000. This amount roughly expresses the sum that would be left along the route of the Hoosier-Dixie Highway in one season.
But the amount that would be left by tourists is not the greatest item. A much greater item is the fact that those who live along the route will have the highway for their own services and the enhancement of values. Beyond this, too, lies the fact that the movement means a concerted effort in hard road construction by which those who pay the price will ultimately get the greatest amount of road for the least amount of money. This does not mean additional expense in road building but in fact means just reverse of expense, or in other words one dollar's worth of road for one dollar's worth of dollar. Roads are the highway of civilization. The uncivilized man does not build highways: he follows a trail. The better the roads as a rule, the higher the order of civilization. As the roads are so are the people. The Hoosier-Dixie Highway Association stands for better roads, hence a higher order of civilization.

SAYS ENGLAND IS BLUFFING
Representative of Cotton Exporters Believes Battleship Should be Sent With Vessels.
WOULD SETTLE DIFFICULTY
Suggests Special Session of Congress in Case President Fails to Clear the Way.
By CHARLES P. STEWART.
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, August 4.—"Poppy-cot; a monumental bluff," was Marion Butler's summary today of the British answer to America's protest against interference with the latter's commerce on the high seas.
Butler, big cotton grower, ex-United States senator and former president of the Farmers Union, probably represents the entire American cotton interests. "Unless President Wilson clears the way for our cotton to foreign markets, German ports included, the growers will see very soon that the way is cleared," said Butler.
A similar belligerent attitude by packing the other exporting interests was indicated by messages the cotton representatives received from them today.
"What the president ought to do is to send a battleship along with every cotton ship or every ship carrying food and clothing of any kind, as an international policeman to protect our rights," said Butler. "The ships would get to port, depend on it."
"Another thing he could and should do if England maintains her belligerent attitude is to call congress in extra session and declare an embargo on all exports."
"England would get off her perch in 24 hours. It is our right under international law to ship cotton direct to German points."

MILLER FINED ON ASSAULT CHARGE
Pleaded Guilty Following Fight in Which he Struck Frank Pittsford—Woman Involved.
STAGED IN GRAND HOTEL
Clen Miller pleaded guilty to the charge of assault and battery this afternoon on Frank Pittsford, and was fined one dollar and costs by Mayor Bebout. The fight occurred this morning in the pool room of the Grand hotel. Pittsford is alleged to have been hit with a pool ball by Miller. For a time Pittsford was held in jail as a witness as he did not want to prosecute Miller.
The details of the fight were not learned by the police and exactly what happened is not known. As far as can be learned at least one woman is involved and the affair had its start last night at the home of P. A. Miller, in East Third street. Clen Miller, a son of P. A. Miller, is said to have gone there and ordered one of the women, taken there against either of the Millers wishes, to leave the city and then this morning came across Pittsford in the Grand hotel. He is said to have hit Pittsford twice with pool balls.

WOMAN REFUSES OPERATION
Tells How She Was Saved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Louisville, Ky.—"I think if more suffering women would take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound they would enjoy better health. I suffered from a female trouble, and the doctors decided I had a tumorous growth and would have to be operated upon, but I refused as I do not believe in operations. I had fainting spells, bloated, and could hardly stand the pain in my left side. My husband insisted that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am so thankful I did, for I am now a well woman. I sleep better, do all my housework and take long walks. I never fail to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my good health."—Mrs. J. M. Resch, 1900 West Broadway, Louisville, Ky.
Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner?
If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

TREATMENT DID NOT SUIT LAUDER

Famous Scotch Comedian in Letter to London Paper Criticizes British Officials

SAYS HE WAS HORRIFIED

(By United Press.)
London, July 22: (By Mail)—Harry Lauder's Scotch is up.
In a burning letter to a London newspaper following a reported incident wherein sixty wounded Scotch Highlanders were taken out of their cots on a trans-Channel ship to make room for as many wounded Germans, the famous Scotch comedian today eliminated all comedy.
The letter reads:
"I am horrified to read of the occasion on which British soldiers, enroute from Havre to Southampton, the majority of them Blackwatch, 42nd Highlanders and Gordons, were taken out of their cots to make room for Germans. Through being removed it was stated that one of the British soldiers subsequently died and that the Germans were supplied with fresh eggs and bread while our British wounded soldiers only had biscuits.
"If this be true, who is to blame? And what is the punishment for such neglectful conduct? I am expressing the feelings of a great number of Scotchmen in writing this. We are at war, and when a case of this kind crops up much damage may be the result. Scotland demands the fullest investigation at once. To be treated as our soldiers have been is more than Scotchmen can tolerate. The enemy are giving no quarter. Why our brave lads should meet such neglect after fighting and bleeding is more than I can comprehend."

PAPER AND MERCHANTS MIX

Object to Advertising And Boycott Has Been Started

(By United Press.)
Evansville, Ind., Aug. 4.—The pocket is being treated to a neat little fight between an Evansville paper and the merchants of the city—that is the merchants on main street.
According to the Evansville Press the merchants sought to dictate what advertising it should print and what it should not print, objecting especially to an ad referring to coupons. The Press stood out for independence and the organized merchants, it asserts, have withdrawn their ads. This is an instance of an attempt to control the newspaper through the advertising columns, asserts the Press.

Amusements

The Princess will show the fifth installment of "The Goddess" for the first picture tonight. Earl Williams and Anita Stewart are featured as usual and this one is said to be especially fine. The other is a two part Vitagraph comedy entitled "Jane Was Worth It." Edith Story and Hughie Mack are featured. Tomorrow night the two reel Charles Chaplin feature "Work" will be shown.
The Gem will show a Charles Chaplin Comedy entitled "Film Johnnie" for first picture tonight. It is said to be one of Chaplin's greatest successes. The other picture is a Nestor comedy "When Cupid Crossed the Bay" Jack Dillon, Billie Rhodes and Neal Burns are featured. Tomorrow night Mary Fuller will be shown in "The Witch of Salem Town."

MIKE KELLY DISAPPEARS

Brother Pays His Debts at Newcastle and Ships Horses Here.

Newcastle, Ind., August 4.—Mike Kelly, a race horse owner, who disappeared from the Henry county fair ground three weeks ago Tuesday, and who left the city owing several people, wrote his brother, John Kelly, a Rushville grocer, telling him to come here, sell his horses and pay his debts. Kelly, according to those who knew him, was not a drinking man, but got discouraged over the showing made by his horses. His brother has just finished paying his bills which amounted to about $100 and has shipped the horses to Rushville.

COCAINE TRUST SAID TO EXIST

Arrest of Druggist May be Final Link in Gang That Has Been Violating Federal Law

INFORMATION BY A GIRL

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, August 4.—Whether Indianapolis like most of the larger cities of the country has a "cocaine trust" was a question which was to receive some light today when Lorenzo B. King, a South Illinois street druggist, was brought up in police court on a charge of selling cocaine contrary to the new federal law. King is the sixth person to be arrested in the investigation of the local narcotic situation—all on the complaint of one girl.
Bert Reeder, a liveryman known as "Cocaine Bill" on the West Side, and three of his aids were sent to the state penal farm for 180 days by Judge Deery of police court several days ago. It is charged that King was associated with Reeder in the sale of "dope."
King was arrested on information supplied by a girl who told the police she had been buying cocaine of King for more than two years. She said that a secret agreement existed between the "dope" fiend and the druggist. At King's store she said that cocaine was known as "two in one" and the purchaser would hold up two fingers and call for three of "two in one," meaning that they wanted $3 worth of cocaine.

SANITY HEARING

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 4.—The Cass county circuit court had the task today of deciding whether William Moore, an inmate in the Northern Hospital for the Insane whose home is in Elkhart, is really insane or is, as he asserts, being kept in the hospital because his wife wants him there. Moore says that he is not insane and he is attempting to gain his freedom.

HAS TRAFFIC

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 4.—This city has now about as many attractions now for the auto and motorcycle speeder as its Polish namesake has at present for a German ehlan. The city council has employed a traffic cop of the latest model with motorcycle accompaniment to run down all speeders who will not stop at his command.

Lights That Never Fade

Every residence in this town should be lighted by electricity, and every business house, work shop and professional office should be similarly equipped.

And we go a little further.

Wires should be strung out to every farm house, and barn, and granary, and other out-houses carrying the light that never fades.

The day of the tallow candle has passed, and the lantern and the coal oil lamp should soon be on their way.

Electricity today is no more expensive than the lamp or the candle while its effectiveness is increased a thousand fold.

The way of the modern world is lighted with electric rays, and the community that refuses to become modernized soon slumbers in the cobwebs of oblivion. Let's light up and stay lit.

The grasshopper plague has made its appearance in Central America, reports Special Agent Harris, now in San Jose, Costa Rica. The grasshoppers appear to be working south. Those appearing in Guatemala are from the State of Chiapas, Mexico, and now that they are in Costa Rica it means an invasion of Panama also. As this is the beginning of the rainy season, and the tender young corn is just getting a start, and as the voracious grasshoppers prefer corn to anything else, it looks as if the United States would be called on to assist Central Americans with shipments of food for perhaps another crop year. This may have a tendency to offset the evil effects of large importations to this country of corn from Argentina, which now finds an easy market in the United States on account of the fact that the Democratic tariff law put corn on the free list, though retaining a duty on rice, a southern product.

Wilson's Democratic Attorney General has taken pains to certify to the Supreme Court his opinion of Wilson's Democratic Congress. And it is no flattering opinion, either. In its brief appealing the so-called "five per cent case" the Department of Justice tells how this legislation was passed. "The congressional purpose of favoring American bottoms," says the Administration, in this brief "is obstructed by treaty provisions to the contrary, and Congress was fully advised of the purport and existence of these treaties." In other words, Congress, though fully warned, went ahead in the spirit of dogged pertinacity which characterizes Democratic legislation generally. This opinion of Democratic capacity to legislate is one which is widely entertained; but we never expected to see a Democratic Attorney General attesting it in an important legal proceeding.

When Mr. Bryan left the State Department he took with him the desk which he and many of his predecessors had used. It will make a valuable edition to the collection of souvenirs which he has accumulated since 1896 and which connect his thoughts with the political disasters of his career. He wanted this desk because upon it he signed the numerous so-called "peace treaties" with which he stalked the Noble prize. Even more interesting, in near future which he drafted the single-term plank of the Baltimore platform.

Popular imagination has been caught by the idea of John Wau-maker that it would be a fine thing to raise $100,000,000 and buy back Belgium from its conquerors. But a hard-headed statistician punctures the idea by pointing out that the sum named would cover the war cost for only ten days—and the war is now a year old.

If you see a hat in the street, kick it. If it is a brick under it, kick it again. Then you will know.

Whenever you meet a fellow with a bright smile and a cheery "How d'you do," you will know that he is a home town booster and a good example for you to follow.

Don't do too much kicking about all of this war news in the daily press. We are experiencing a welcome respite from politics.

People's Column

Rush County Gravel.

Some time ago there appeared in your valuable paper an article headed "Fine Gravel used in concrete work, which had been shipped here from Greenville, Ohio. No doubt the gravel was good but did you ever stop to consider the high grade of our own good Rush county gravel? Every day there is gravel being used in Rushville that did not have to be shipped in but was hauled in wagons from the different pits around Rushville. If that Rush county gravel was good enough to be used for concrete in the finest buildings in Rushville why wasn't it good enough for concrete for a brick street.

The men who are responsible for shipped gravel ought to have a little pride in a Rush county product instead of sending our money away for foreign products why not leave it here at home? Our own gravel is already mixed and in nearly all cases the mixture is just what it ought to be. The writer of this article is willing to put his gravel against any shipped in stuff in any kind of a test and will demonstrate that Rush county gravel has no superiors and few equals.

TRAVEL OVER NATIONAL ROAD.

"From six to twelve independent stage lines ran on this road, and a score of companies were in the transportation business. The schedule of the stage was thirty hours from Washington to Wheeling, 45 to Columbus, sixty hours to Indianapolis and seventy five hours to Vandalia. Only thoroughbred Virginia horses were used on the best lines, and the sound of the bugle was as certain an indication of the time of day as the passing of passenger trains on the railroads at the present time. The coachman was a man of consequence along the route almost an idol of the boys. To see him dash up to a post, throw the lines to the stable boys, tell the latest news from the East while teams were changing, then break away at a fifteen mile clip, was enough to attract all the youngsters for a mile or two. The driver usually courted this admiration and never missed a chance to take a boy on the seat with him—a favor the boy paid for with apples and cider, and remembered with pride during the rest of his life. A guild of wagoners soon grew up in the freight business. These men were well known from Baltimore to Columbus and thoroughly reliable. "Long's Essay in Internal Improvements in Early Indiana."

THEY FOLLOWED THE PATH OF DUTY

Earl of Shelborne Declares England Did Not Want War But Followed Only Course

FIGHTING FOR EXISTENCE

Says Germany Proposes Peace by Being Dominant Power of World—no Boasting Now

BY THE EARL OF SHELBOURNE, K. G., G. C. M. G., P. C., ETC.

President of the Board of Agriculture in the New British Coalition Ministry; First Lord of the Admiralty (1900-5); Governor of the Transvaal and High Commissioner for South Africa (1905-10); one of the leaders of the Conservative party.

(Written especially for the U. P.) Copyright, 1915, by United Press. Copyright in Great Britain.

We hate war and did not enter upon this war light heartedly. We knew that Germany and Austria possessed an immense military power accumulated through years of preparation and that the war had been forced on Europe at a moment deliberately chosen by the Central Powers as that most favorable to themselves. We knew that the war must be a terrible one and a long one. But the path of duty seemed quite plain to us. We perceived that the German Government had dishonored the faith of Germany and attacked the country it had promised to defend in pursuance of a deliberate policy, which, if successful, involved the ruin alike of Belgium and of France and of the British Empire.

The German Government proposes to itself to establish peace in the world by the dominant power of Germany. The German army and navy is to act as the world's police and to enforce on other nations a rule of conduct prescribed for them by the German Government. Any nation, great or small, which stands in the way of the success of this policy is to be ground into the dust.

We are fighting, therefore, not only for our existence as a great power but also for our national ideals, since this conception of world policy is incompatible with our idea of the liberty of nations or of individual men. It involves more-over, as we have seen repeatedly in the last twelve months, the action of Germany as a non-moral State, whereas we believe that there is no hope for the progress of the world towards peace unless the nations are prepared to accept the Christian code of the duties of trustees as that on which they should endeavor to act in their relations with one another.

Any boasting would be as silly as profane if breathed in connection with such a struggle. It is enough to say that the British people have never had and have not a shadow of doubt that their duty is to fight out these issues to the end, and that they live supreme confidence in their Allies and in themselves.

UP-TO-NOW IN DESIGN

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as practical designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designer.

SPEEDWAY WILL NOT BE CHANGED

Indianapolis Race Course Will Remain The Same Next Year Despite These Other Places

ELEMENT OF RISK REMAINS

Organized Racing to be Tried—Fight Promised Between New York And Chicago

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Aug. 4.—The Indianapolis Speedway will not be revamped because of the new possibilities of speed discovered in the Chicago Speedway. The Sheephead Bay course at New York may even shatter all Chicago records, but the Indianapolis Speedway will hold its next Decoration Day race on a course practically unaltered.

All speculation on this matter was finally set at rest today by Carl G. Fisher, president of the local Speedway and pioneer of the auto racing game.

The mother course will continue to present the human element in automobile racing. This course, with its low turns requiring extreme skill to bring successful speed, will stand out in contrast against the comparatively safe bowl courses, where extreme speed is maintained with mechanical precision. Men like Ralph De Palma, whose masterful driving brought his Mercedes across in the recent sensational race, are known to prefer courses where the skill of the driver is the determining factor. They are known to feel that if the bowl courses drive out courses such as the one here, the remarkable drivers will disappear.

As one driver expressed it today, auto racing is in one way similar to golf. If the low score is the only thing to be desired, golfers would flock to the easy courses that are now shunned, he said. The human element and the element of risk so apparent in any 500-mile race here, are all that save auto racing from the humdrum.

Auto racing is about to be organized. Following in the path of organized baseball, leaders in the motor racing world have banded together under the laws of Indiana into the Speedway Association of America with seven Speedway courses in the league. The courses are: the Indianapolis course, Sheephead Bay, Chicago, Minneapolis, Sioux City, Tacoma and Omaha. These "big league" cities promise to systematize the game and plan their events so as to prevent conflict of dates. They will also boost the game by advertising it properly. They have planned to send a shrewd agent to Europe to interest drivers and makers who have not yet sensed America. In other words, co-operation is expected to provide the lubricant to place auto racing on a smooth and permanent basis.

But with organization, conflict is already seen by a few of the interested, especially in Chicago. New York is expected to object to another race at Chicago on Oct. 9. Chicago expects Sheephead Bay to lower records and wants another shot at them. In case New York objects and wins in its protest to the A. A. A. contest board, it is hinted Chicago may break away and cast its lot with the Western Automobile Association.

Tables. Dr. Geisel urged the teachers to teach the children to eat fruit. "The juice from pineapples is one of the best anti-septics known to the medical profession for diphtheria," said Dr. Geisel. "Encourage the children to eat fruit. The juice contains many properties that kill the germs."

Dr. Geisel urged the teachers to use every precaution to keep contagious diseases out of the school rooms. She told a story of finding a child suffering from measles in a school room. The teacher, she said, did not know the child had the disease and as a result out of sixty-six children in the room fourteen died and eight were maimed for life. Dr. Geisel pointed out that measles is a germ disease and the old idea of parents thinking that their children just had to have the measles has long since been exploded. "The new idea is," said Dr. Geisel, "not to let them have the disease."

The parents were urged to co-operate with the teachers in keeping contagion out of the school rooms. The teachers were told that along with helping the children keep their teeth clean they should be taught to keep their finger nails clean. "The idea that the nails are poisonous," said Dr. Geisel, "is false. The nails are as pure as any part of the body but it is the dirt that accumulates under the nails that is injurious. This dirt carries germs and the disease is transmitted to the mouth and the body through the nails carrying the dirt."

Dr. Ellis spoke on "The Use of English." He urged that the teachers use more literature in the schools. The sessions of the institute are attracting more attention and Wednesday morning the largest crowd of the week was in attendance. Many people go that are not teachers just for a chance to hear the two speakers.

DANCING MASTERS IN CONVENTION

Annual Meeting of National Association Get Under Way at Oakland, Cal.

WANT TEACHERS PROTECTED

(By United Press.)

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 4.—Two hundred dancing masters from different parts of the United States are here to attend the annual convention of the National Dancing Masters' Association which is being held here beginning today and lasting until Aug. 14, under the auspices of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

One meeting during the convention will be devoted to the discussion of means to obtain legislation for the protection of qualified dancing teachers. Z. I. Hinman of San Francisco, president of the association, declares that the public should be safe guarded against ignorant and immoral dancing teachers and such care can only be taken through legislation. It is urged that dancing masters be licensed.

RUSSIAN YIELD LOWER THAN U.S.

Number of Sugar Beets Per Acre in This Country Slightly Better Than That Country

WIDE RANGE IS NOTICED

Improper Thinning Said to be One Cause by Department of Agriculture—More Care Urged

(By United Press.)

Washington, Aug. 4.—With the exception of Russia, the yields of sugar beets per acre in the United States is lower than in any other beet producing country. The average in America is 10.17 tons, and in Germany, 14.84. The cost of labor in this country and other factors of a similar nature unquestionably account for some of this difference but on the other hand, it is no uncommon thing to find the widest range in the yield of crops grown under conditions that appear to be almost identical. One farmer, for example, may take 20 tons of beets per acre to the factory, while his neighbor can only haul 7 or 8.

A recent investigation by the United States Department of Agriculture resulted in the conclusion that the differences were frequently due to untested deficiencies in the stand. It was found that without counting them it was impossible to estimate without any degree of accuracy the number of plants per acre and that in consequence, this number was frequently much smaller than the farmer had believed or intended. The loss may occur before thinning, during the process of thinning and blocking, and during cultivation between thinning and harvesting. For loss in the germination stand the causes may be found in poor preparation of the seed, imperfect operation of seed drills, late frosts, damping off, or such pests as cutworms or wire worms.

Improper thinning is, however, the greatest single source of loss. In this country the work is usually done without efficient supervision and there is no incentive to the laborers to be careful and accurate. The usual result is that the space left between the plants is greater than the farmer intended it to be. After the plants attain a moderate growth this fact is not perceptible to the ordinary observer. It is revealed, however, in a yield which is on the average 25 per cent less than it would have been had the thinning been properly done. A somewhat smaller loss frequently occurs a little later when some plants are destroyed by carelessness in the use of the cultivator.

Constantinople, July 26 (Delayed)

The greatest fleet ever assembled for the purpose of attack has scarcely scratched the defenses of the Dardanelles. The possibility that the Strait will be forced by the Anglo-French warships and land forces is too remote for consideration and back of this feeling of confidence of superiority of Turkish arms is developing a new spirit of national unity that is regenerating the Turkish empire.

Briefly put, these were the statements made to me today by Field Marshal Von Der Goltz, of the German army, who, as military instructor of the Turkish army for years preceding the Balkan wars, was for himself the title "Father of the Modern Turkish Army."

and though it was next to impossible to those who had never heard Helen Keller before to get the sense of her thought because of the inability to understand so many words, her appearance demonstrated the wonderful achievement of a dominant will power and a brilliant mind.

The first sounds she made were deep and guttural. Gradually her voice became more pliant and she spoke with more ease. The words "darkness," "love," "justice," "stars," and some of the conjunctions and pronouns were easily distinguishable. It was as if some mystic oracle spoke. That a person who lost the power of speech and in addition does not have any conception what the count of the spoken word is like should be able to talk almost surpassed human comprehension, and that one fact alone made the appearance of Helen Keller the most marvelous person ever seen—perhaps that ever will be seen or heard—at the Rush county chautauqua.

More wonderful even—if that be possible—than her set talk, was the rapidity and ease with which Mrs. Macy transmitted questions asked in the audience to Helen Keller. The blind girl placed the thumb of her left hand on Mrs. Macy's larynx, the index finger on her lips and the middle finger on her nose. Mrs. Macy then repeated the question asked in an ordinary tone of voice and without exception Helen Keller answered immediately, being able to understand by the movement of the lips.

One of the things that appealed to many as being almost supernatural was the way Helen Keller repeated the word intuitive, which was used in a question put to her, three times before she seemed to grasp just what it meant. She did not hear how it was pronounced the word intuitive, but she repeated it three times, just as one who hears their own words

well and does not feel that a certain word has been pronounced correctly.

The way Helen Keller's face beamed with intelligence when she grasped the meaning of a question and the eagerness with which she answered revealed only in small measure the almost superhuman effort that she has made to overcome her misfortune. The most pleasant thing about her appearance was the delight and joy one felt at watching her marvelously expressive features work and seeing her countenance suddenly reveal what were her innermost thoughts.

She was asked if she felt the presence of the audience and she replied without hesitation that she did, and in the same instant moved her hands across in front of her to show that she knew many people were around her from the vibrations in the air. Many wondered if she felt the applause as she left the stage because she bowed repeatedly with each outburst.

The question was put: "Was your knowledge of the Supreme Being intuitive or did someone impart it to you?" She answered that it was partly intuitive and partly imparted. She said she had always felt that there was a God but that she had forgotten His name.

A questioner asked her what her favorite passage of scripture was. She replied with more eagerness that she displayed at any other question that it was the Twenty-third Psalm. Mrs. Macy then asked her to repeat the Psalm and she did.

The climax of the wonderful performance came when she repeated the Psalm. The ardor, impetuosity, fervency and even passion of her whole being was most expressively transmitted to many who watched her by her very manner, even though she could not impart her feelings by her spoken words. The very topmost point of human pathos was reached when her body bent forward in all the fervor of her strong personality she spoke the words of the Psalm: "My cup runneth over." Many read the lesson from those words. They said in their condition could repeat with such apparent delight and express so much satisfaction with her plight by those words, what has the ordinary individual to complain about? was the moral that many persons drew.

Mrs. Macy told how she went to Helen Keller as a teacher—when Helen was a few months past six years. An illness, the nature of which is unknown, left the girl blind, deaf and dumb at nineteen months. The day Mrs. Macy arrived, she said, Helen had felt the air of expectancy. She rushed toward Mrs. Macy when her future teacher stepped over the threshold.

Mrs. Macy described how Helen made her mother know Mrs. Macy had a trunk and how she rummaged through the trunk, found a hat and by womanly instinct tried it on. Helen knew what shakes of the head meant before Mrs. Macy began her task by placing her hand on the head to see which way it went. She pointed to her mouth when hungry. Her mind was constantly at work those days, but none ever knew what was in it in those days, Mrs. Macy said.

Mrs. Macy said Helen found a doll in her trunk and appropriated it immediately. The doll was sent to her by her only deaf, dumb and blind girl who had been taught up to that time. Mrs. Macy said she had her first battle with Helen when she took the doll from her to get her to spell the word. The first word she spelled on her hands was cake and later learned to spell doll although that always aroused her anger.

"I used precisely the same material as you use to teach your children," said Mrs. Macy. "The baby hears words hundreds of times before he knows the objects. The baby learns by the association of objects with words. It was the same with Helen."

Mrs. Macy said Helen learned eighteen nouns and five verbs in the first twenty-five days. She described an important incident of the first month. Helen had always confused mug and milk. One day Mrs. Macy took her to the well, placed a mug in her hand and began to pump water into the mug. On the other hand she spelled water. Then Helen understood and she got the distinction between the water and the mug. Mrs. Macy said the first look of intelligence then came into her face. She learned thirty new words that day and for the first time learned that everything had a name, Mrs. Macy said.

"From that moment," continued the teacher, "she was transformed from a little animal to an intelligent child. It was not long until she was using English type. She played games and played with dolls and it was amusing to see her imitation of her mother's use of a baby sister."

Mrs. Macy said "Think" was the first word she learned requiring a mental operation. She and her teacher lived outdoors at her beautiful home in sunny Alabama and she learned from living things.

"It is true I am her teacher," said Mrs. Macy, "but I must admit that she has outstripped me in many things. She knows more Latin and Greek and she thinks she knows more economics and Socialism."

Mrs. Macy described her constant desire while still very young to learn to talk and how she was taken to Boston where both she and her teacher were taught the beauty of articulation. The teacher told how she won her degree at college under great obstacles and how she kept in touch with the affairs of the country through her large library and many magazines.

 Chautauqua Notes *****

Tuesday placed the Rush county chautauqua in the forefront of Indiana chautauquas. Helen Keller is an attraction that no other Indiana chautauqua had enjoyed up to this time. Miss Keller appeared at Winona Wednesday afternoon.

Never before in the history of the Rush county chautauqua did a crowd begin gathering so early as the one Tuesday evening. Some persons never left their seats after the afternoon program. Others barely took time to eat their suppers on the ground. Before six o'clock every available seat was taken in the front center section. The choice seats were all gone by six-thirty and at seven o'clock it was impossible to find a seat for anyone. Hundreds of extra chairs were placed in every inch and corner that could be located and still people jammed into the aisles about the doors so thick that one person could scarcely move without disturbing the whole crowd.

The Royal Welsh Male Singers pleased the crowds immensely Tuesday. Their melodious voices blended to make a king of music that has never been heard here. Their time was cut short Tuesday night, and since the Coliseum was crowded to capacity at five minutes before seven o'clock, they readily consented to begin then and the crowd got an hour and fifteen minutes of music.

Lovers of fine music are looking forward with considerable anticipation to the coming of the Grace Hall-Ribeldaffer company Thursday and Friday. This organization consists of piano, soprano and violin soloists that are unexcelled. They will give preludes both days and a full concert Thursday evening.

The paid admissions at the chautauqua Tuesday amounted to more than six hundred dollars. This is believed to be the biggest crowd the chautauqua ever enjoyed. When it is considered that there are over twelve hundred season tickets out this year, it will be readily seen that there were more than twenty-five hundred and possibly three thousand persons on the grounds Tuesday night.

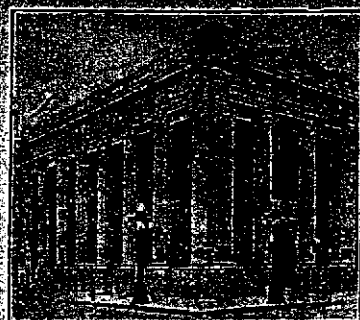

It is said that those who stay away from the chautauqua tonight will miss a treat in the person of Dr. Gabriel Maguire. He is not only a traveler and explorer of renown, but he is a wit who can put most anything in a humorous light by the telling of it.

Risca Williams told the story of the sinking of the Lusitania at the chautauqua Tuesday afternoon. It was a most graphic description to which the audience gave rapt attention. The manager told in an interview in the Daily Republican Tuesday evening how four members of the choir who were saved on a raft carrying forty persons sang "Abide With Me" towards evening when hope of rescue was given up. When Mr. Williams reached that point Tuesday afternoon, the singers took up the refrain and sang it. Many a person in the audience felt a thrill due to the realism which that added to the story.

One man Wednesday said that he made out one phrase which Helen Keller used in her talk. It was that "happiness is born with the soul." Her theme was "Happiness" and she was the best exponent of that, without telling what happiness is.

The Welsh singers went from here to Noblesville Wednesday. They will appear at the Greensburg and Greenfield chautauquas before leaving Indiana.

The Hruby Bohemian orchestra, which was here the first two days, is meeting with as much popularity at Columbus, where the organization closes a two days' engagement Wednesday evening.
